

Research Communications Program

October Presentation Workshop Series

Learn more and register at <https://researchcommunications.ucsd.edu>

The Science on How to Give Presentations that Capture Your Audience

Tuesday, October 3 at 2pm or Wednesday, October 4 at noon

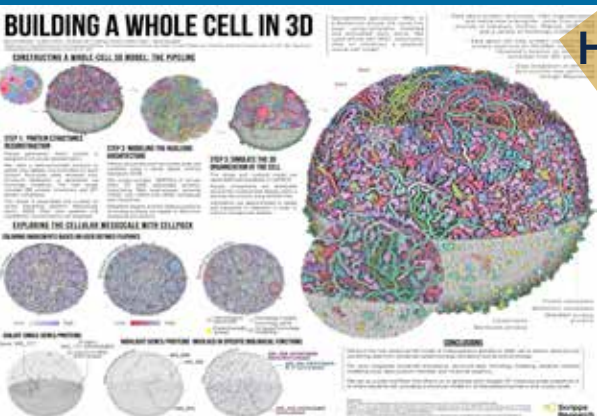

This presentation will draw from scholarship to provide evidence-based practical tips on optimizing language, visuals, organization and flow, including strategies for enhancing accessibility and inclusivity, and to enhance your poise.

Scoring the Text: Boosting the Power and Impact of Your Research Talks

Tuesday, October 17 | 10 am to noon

“Scoring the text” can include vocal techniques such as shifts in tone and volume, and strategic use of pauses. Body language techniques include the use of signifying gestures to help the audience visualize and remember key concepts, and the use of spatial relationship to your audience.

How to Design and Present a Poster Like a Pro

Tuesday, October 24 | 10 am to noon

Poster sessions are a fantastic way to network. Whether you are a first-time poster presenter figuring out how to get started or an experienced poster presenter looking to polish your style, this session will offer tips you can use.